

“Lovin’ the Hill”

SUMMER MISSIONS PROJECT

July 7 – 15, 2007

* Special Picnic – Sunday, July 8th after the service*

Please consider how you can participate in our summer mission project right here in New Haven. Multiple activities and events will be occurring throughout the week and no matter what your schedule and your abilities, there will be a place to fit in!

A typical day will find one team in the Hill section on New Haven running a “Lovin’ the Hill” soccer camp in the morning, and then either participating in special afternoon activities with the kids (Saturday Carnival! Wednesday Beach trip!) or targeted work projects in the Hill neighborhood. Meanwhile another team will be working on much needed upkeep on the CPC Study Center. Logistically this means there are others who are making sure everyone is fed, cleanup occurs, and transportation needs are met. At the end of the day, we all join together for food and fellowship as well as a time of worship and sharing.

PRAY - individually, with your family and your small groups. There is much preparation yet to be done and we would seek to honor God in all we do. Independent Presbyterian Church is still recruiting volunteers and raising funds, preparatory work continues in the Hill and we enter the summer with great expectation of how the Lord will work as we all share together in this experience.

PREPARE – Please consider joining teams which are forming now. Work has begun on promoting the camp. We also need to work out logistics such as transportation, and providing food for the IPC team. As well, children from the ages 6-12 years are encouraged to sign-up as camp participants by filling out the form on the back table in the foyer. We would like to get New Haven involved as we seek donations of food and other items from local merchants. Your thoughts and ideas and your energy are needed!

PARTICIPATE – contact Tolivar Wills at cpctolivar@snet.net or calling 777-6960.
