

Module 2

Our Basic Commitments in Ministry

Introduction:

A good theology will translate into various practical commitments in ministry. At CPC, we have attempted to summarize these practical commitments into six broad areas. Another way to look at these commitments is to think of these as theological vision or framework that is consistent with the "Reformed Worldview." We could just as name this module "A Christian Worldview."

1. We are committed to the Old and New Testament Scriptures as our only rule of faith and practice.

While believing that God powerfully manifest his infinite glory in a general way through creation, our Christian faith and practice is grounded in God's works of redemption in history as explained to us through the divinely appointed means of inspired Scripture. We believe that all things necessary for salvation are sufficiently revealed to us by the Holy Spirit speaking through the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments. We believe also that all special revelation has ceased until the next and final redemptive act of God in history when Christ will return to judge the living and the dead. It is, therefore, our ambition to teach the whole counsel of God's word, not adding to, or subtracting from, anything contained within it, recognizing no other source for divine revelation, whether by ecclesiastical traditions or private revelations.

Implications:

1. Two "equal" but "different" books of revelation—Parity in substance, disparity in content!
A. A. Hodge, The Confession Of Faith (1868)
(On Chapter 1, IV, Section 1 "Of Creation")
The book of revelation and the book of nature are both from God and will be found when both are adequately interpreted to coincide perfectly.... The one (revelation in the bible) was designed and is admirably adapted to lay the foundation of an intelligent faith in Jehovah as the absolute Creator and the immediate former and providential ruler of all things. But it was not designed either to prevent or to take the place of scientific interpretation of all existing phenomena and of all traces of the past history of the world which God allows men to discover. Apparent discrepancies in established truths can have their ground only in perfect knowledge. God requires us both to believe and to learn. He imposes upon us at present the necessity of humility and patience.
2. Interpretation: R/H approach as to reflect the "fulfillment" principle
Thus, Christocentric-- (1 Cor.2:1ff, 2 Cor.5:20)
Luke 24:13 An Emmaus Road Event
3. Preaching that reflects sola scriptura-- Expositional preaching that assumes the burden of "thus saith the Lord."
"It is required of those that hear the Word preached, that they attend upon it with diligence, preparation, and prayer; EXAMINE WHAT THEY HEAR BY THE SCRIPTURES; receive the truth with faith, love, meekness, and readiness of mind, as the Word of God; meditate, and confer of it; hide it in their hearts, and bring forth the fruit of it in their lives."

Therefore, a sermon that is text driven and text structured (e.g. Biblical topics in biblical proportions (1 Cor.1:20, Neh.1:1-8)

4. Divine Wisdom— The sufficiency of Scripture, not the exhaustability of scripture in Divine Wisdom (see Module 5)

2. We are committed to the teachings of grace as they are summarized in the historic Westminster Confession of Faith.

Whereas the Holy Scriptures are our only rule of faith and practice, our Church unity is predicated upon a consensus about what the Scriptures principally teach. Our consensus is reflected in the 350-year-old Westminster Confession of Faith. In summary, it affirms that God is no less sovereign in our salvation than He is sovereign in our creation to the praise of God's glorious grace! This means that we are accepted by God, from beginning to end, not by our own works or attempts at being approved by God, but by faith alone in the perfect and all sufficient work of Christ on our behalf, faith itself being the free gift of God! While many people join our church without knowing or affirming all the teachings contained in the Westminster Confession of Faith, our church, when acting and speaking corporately, seeks to be in accord with the Westminster Standards.

Implications:

1) So Goes Sovereignty so goes Grace!

- ✓ WCF 3.5 Those of mankind that are predestinated unto life, God, before the foundation of the world was laid, according to his eternal and immutable purpose, and the secret counsel and good pleasure of his will, hath chosen, in Christ, unto everlasting glory, out of his mere free grace and love, without any foresight of faith, or good works, or perseverance in either of them, or any other thing in the creature, as conditions, or causes moving him thereunto; and all to the praise of his glorious grace.
- ✓ WCF 10.2 This effectual call is of God's free and special grace alone, not from anything at all foreseen in man, who is altogether passive therein, until, being quickened and renewed by the Holy Spirit, he is thereby enabled to answer this call, and to embrace the grace offered and conveyed in it.
- ✓ WCF 11.3 Christ, by his obedience and death, did fully discharge the debt of all those that are thus justified, and did make a proper, real, and full satisfaction to his Father's justice in their behalf. Yet, inasmuch as he was given by the Father for them; and his obedience and satisfaction accepted in their stead; and both, freely, not for anything in them; their justification is only of free grace; that both the exact justice and rich grace of God might be glorified in the justification of sinners.

Now to him who is able to keep you from falling and to present you without blemish before the presence of his glory with rejoicing, 25 to the only God, our Savior through Jesus Christ our Lord, be glory, majesty, dominion, and authority, before all time and now and for ever. Amen.

Jude 24

3. We are committed to God-centered worship designed after a covenantal pattern that is in the mediated presence of Christ through word and sacrament.

In every period of redemptive history, God has chosen to mediate his saving presence among his people as regulated through the divine institutions of word, sacrament and prayers. Today, through the sacraments of the Lord's Supper and Christian Baptism, together with the preaching of God's word and corporate prayers (both sung and unsung), God has promised to be with us until the end of the age. Our worship is set to the pattern of covenant initiation and renewal including the weekly participation of the Lord's supper. Our music and style of worship is "blended" to reflect the multi-cultural context of those God has brought to our city. Our desire is for our worship to be as God-centered as our theology, communicating the truth and grace of God to the nations. We welcome all believers together with those who are searching.

Implications:

- ✓ The Covenantal Principle: There is a dialogical aspect to worship as directed to the "elect" (The elect consist of both the church/believers and unchurched/unbelievers such that while appealing only to the "elect sympathies we will want to be accessible and relevant to both!)

Covenant Initiation and Renewal Pattern:

From Transcendent, to Imminent to Transcendent.

From Adoration, Initiation Rite (Baptism), Confession, Absolution, Instruction, Affirmation of Faith, Renewal Rites (Lord's Supper), Coronation.

– Dialogical Movements after the patterned Gospel logic.

- 1.) God declares, "I am your God, you are my people."
- 2.) The people respond by rendering praise and thanksgiving to God, and by renewing vows of exclusive faith and commitment to God.
- 3.) God is present through it all to bring his salvific benediction to those being saved to the praise of God's glorious grace!

The Covenantal Movements In worship: From an emphasis on transcendence to imminence to transcendence again...

- The fourfold pattern after a "Gospel Logic:"
 - Movement of Praise and Adoration: "praise is the gateway to God's presence" (Hughes Old)

We enter his gates with thanksgiving and his courts with praise.
Psm.100:4

 - ✓ Call to Worship
 - ✓ Doxology
 - ✓ Hymns/Songs of Praise
 - ✓ Prayer of Praise and Invocation

- Movement of Confession and Absolution: “as true knowledge of God leads to a true knowledge of ourselves.” (Terry Johnson)
 - A familiar pattern in OT:
 - Moses (after seeing even the backside of God’s glory) “made haste to bow low toward the earth and worship (Ex.34:8)
 - Isaiah (seeing a vision of God’s glory in the temple) cried out “woe is me, for I am ruined, I am a man of unclean lips and I live among a people of unclean lips.” (Is.6:5)
 - A familiar pattern in the NT:
 - Peter (after he sees God’s glory in Jesus following a miracle) calls out “depart from me for I am a sinful man.” (Luke 5:8)
 - John (seeing a vision of God on the throne) described how “when I saw Him, I fell at his feet as a dead man.” (Rev.1:17)

As a consequence, we must infer that man is never sufficiently touched and affected by the awareness of his lowly state until he has compared himself with God’s majesty.”

John Calvin, Institutes...

- Reading of the Law of God
- Confession of Sin
- Assurance and Absolution
- Entrance Sacrament of Baptism
- Pastoral Prayers
- Hymns/Songs of Thanksgiving

- Movement Within the Mediated Presence of God in Word and Sacrament: “the means of grace”
 - It is not merely a re-enactment or remembrance of God’s work for our salvation. It is God present as mediated through his word and sacrament so as to transact his covenant to those who are being saved.*

Word:

You have been born anew, not of perishable but of imperishable seed, through the living and enduring word of God. For “All flesh is like grass and all its glory like the flower of grass. The grass withers, and the flower falls, but the word of the Lord endures forever.”

1 Peter 1:23-25

But what does it say? “The word is near you, on your lips and in your heart believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved... So faith comes from what is heard, and what is heard comes through the word of Christ.

Romans 10: 8,17

Sacrament:

While they were eating, he took a loaf of bread, and after blessing it he broke it, gave it to them, and said, “Take; this is my body.” Then he took a cup, and after giving thanks he gave it to them, and all of them drank from it.

Mark 14:22-23

The cup of blessing that we bless, is it not a sharing in the blood of Christ? The bread that we break, is it not a sharing in the body of Christ?

1 Cor.16-17

- Reading from Scripture
 - Prayer for Illumination
 - Expositional Sermon
 - Renewed Faith in Christ
 - Renewed Trust and Giving of ourselves To Christ
 - Sacrament of Lord's Supper and Spiritual Confirmation and Sealing into Gods' Salvation
- Movement of Coronation of God by humanity and benediction for those being saved by God.
- ✓ Hymn of Coronation and Praise
 - ✓ Prayer of Coronation, Praise and Thanksgiving
 - ✓ Gloria Patri
 - ✓ Benediction: The final Word is God's, and it is the promise of blessing, not curse, upon those being saved!

Summary of the Covenantal Pattern:

The two beat rhythm of God's approach to us that meets with and evokes a reacting offering of ourselves to him seems basic to the Christian view of worship.

Ralph Martin

- ✓ Sacramental Principle: Corporate worship is set apart from all other Christian events by the mediated presence of God "in our midst" through the ministry of word, sacrament and prayers. The whole service is within the shadow of koinonia as climaxed in the weekly Lord's Supper.

E.g. An Efficacious understanding of sacraments as tied to effectual calling and sanctification

Baptism

Titus 3:5, 1Peter 3:21, 1Cor.12:13, Mk.16:16

Lord's Supper:

1 Cor.10:15- "the bread which we break, is it not the communion ("koinonia") of the body of Christ?"

- ✓ The Regulative Principle: Forms

WCF 1:6

The whole counsel of God concerning all things necessary for his own glory, man's salvation, faith and life, is either expressly set down in Scripture, or by good and necessary consequence may be deduced from Scripture: unto which nothing at any time is to be added, whether by new revelations of the Spirit, or traditions of men.

WCF 21.1

The light of nature shows that there is a God, who has lordship and sovereignty over all, is good, and does good unto all, and is therefore to be feared, loved, praised, called upon, trusted in, and served, with all the heart, and with all the soul, and with all the might. But the acceptable way of worshipping the true God is instituted by Himself, and so limited by His own revealed will, that He may not be worshipped according to the imaginations and devices of men, or the suggestions of Satan, under any visible representation, or any other way not prescribed in the holy Scripture.

Therefore, ONLY 4 Essential Elements:

Acts 2:42

They devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers.

✓ The Charity Principle: Style (or Vernacular Principle)

In so far as it is a work of the people in response to the work of God, there is a "vernacular" component to true, dialogical, nature of worship. In an increasingly multi-cultural context, there will necessarily be a multi-national vernacular and greater need for vernacular tolerance as driven by love!

Romans 14

WCF 1:6

Nevertheless, we acknowledge the inward illumination of the Spirit of God to be necessary for the saving understanding of such things as are revealed in the Word: and that there are some circumstances concerning the worship of God, and government of the church, common to human actions and societies, which are to be ordered by the light of nature, and Christian prudence, according to the general rules of the Word, which are always to be observed

Application in New Haven: A Blended Style of Worship fit the "blended" vernacular of a post-modern city as within a given language group.

Reasons:

a. In order to foster greater "tolerance" out of love one for another about those things that are vernacular in nature. (Rom. 14)

b. In order to account for the relatively "blended" vernacular that exist in most post-modern cities today.

c. To foster more genuine "participation" in worship by the widest defined vernacular possible within a given language group.

d. To make the Christ centered doctrines of grace more accessible to more people within covenantal worship.

✓ The "Directory" Principle (vs. formalism or form/lessism...)

Note: If Anglican church is prone to formalism, so too Puritanism in reaction often was prone to form/lessism... The Westminster tradition self-consciously sought to avoid either extreme—thus a directed approach...

Again, Whereas the Episcopalian's "Book" regulate both elements and Forms

The independents deregulate both form and elements more or less...

The Presbyterians regulate elements and "direct" forms

✓ In sum: "Not up for grabs" at CPC:

1. Expository Preaching
2. Weekly Communion
3. Covenantal Pattern of Worship utilizing all Four Elements including weekly communion.
4. A clear identification with the One Holy Catholic Church "of our Fathers" through selected hymns, confessions and prayers
5. Music that fits the message (abeyant relative to the vernacular interpretation) but is both classical/traditional and contemporary/folk with suitable instrumentation.. (E.g. both classical and "folk" style instrumentations as suited to medium of music)
6. God Centered message targeting elect sympathies (in believer and unbeliever terms)
7. Reverent (which could include a wide range of expressions including "sorrow, joy, thanksgiving, commitment, conviction, affirmation, etc. etc.) as distinguished from entertainment, "casual", passive, knee-stumping emotionalism, etc. etc.
8. Gospel driven service...
9. 1st Day of the Week (Sun-down to Sun-down)
10. Corporate Confession of Sin and Faith
11. Pre-worship "Heart" prep. (either with or without music)
12. Avoid announcements during worship...
13. The role of instrumentation is to "accompany" a given element and/or form of element. I.e. Triumphant "form" of hymn warrants, in so far as possible, a corresponding "triumphant" musical arrangements using instruments well suited to a "triumphant" sound. Or, instrumentation is not used in lieu of congregational participation where warranted by the element/form of worship. (We affirm that both the music "forms" and the instrument "circumstances" contain a "message" that either affirms and promotes a given intended message or distracts from it-- this is what we mean by "accompaniment" as a role relative to any given element and/or form.
14. Seek to avoid the entertainment "impulse" as noted by passivity vs. participation and medium focus vs. message focus.

4. We are committed to being a missional, multi-cultural church and church planting movement.

We believe that the church, the household of God, is an essential element of the gospel into which people of every tribe and nation are welcomed. While affirming that every follower of Christ is called to be a witness to the truth and grace of God revealed in Jesus Christ in both word and deed, we also believe that true evangelism is best accomplished through church planting. It is therefore our ambition to be not only a growing church, but also a growing church planting movement. While holding to a time-honored understanding of faith, we are strategically progressive. Our aim is to plant churches that reach the different cultures in our city, New England and the world.

Implications:

✓ Church growth through church multiplication

Did Paul consider his work completed when converts were made? Not at all! Rather he made it his business to finish the task by appointing elders in the places where he had seen a harvest (Acts 14:23). The ultimate object of his labors was new churches. And while we clearly see "preaching" as one of the means used by the Apostles in Acts (2:41, 47, 4:4, 5:14, 6:7, 8:4-7, we come to this striking observation in Acts 9:31, "then the churches throughout all Judea, Galilee, and Samaria had peace and were edified." In other words, as summary to the work of the apostles, what we see is that church planting had been co-extensive with preaching. Numerous churches were the result of the apostle's "evangelism." And when Paul instructed his young evangelist protegee's with the "pattern of sound words," these words included such instructions as concerned qualifications for church officers (1 Tim. 3:1-13,) and worship. (1 Tim.2:1-15). Moreover, these instructions were not merely as but Paul's personal preferences but rather as how one "ought" to "conduct oneself in the household of God," described then as the "church of the living God" even "the pillar and bulwark of the truth." (1 Tim3:14-15)

- ✓ Priority to reach cultures not yet reached
 - ✓ Missional church vs. Maintenance driven church
- Illus. Maintain the tension of being missional and preservationist Boat out to sea...

"A Great Commission Church"

Missional-- focus is to open doors into the world for the sake of sharing and participating in the gospel. Try to avoid Christianeze...

Maintenance-- structure, programs and focus is on building walls in order to keep the world out. Celebrates Christianeze...

Missional --prayer focus on a harvest of the gospel and gospel transformation by means of x,y, z. circumstance

Maintenance -- prayer on members needs only and on z,y,z circumstances only.

Missional -- teaching with outreach objectives in mind.

Maintenance -- teaching with focus on ourselves and meeting our personal needs only.

Missional -- loves its community and seeks to reach it

Maintenance -- fears its community and seeks to protect ourselves from it.

Missional -- tired but loving it... to busy for internal divisiveness

Maintenance -- fatigue and frustration ...internal divisions

Missional -- Emphasis on "guarding" the faith for the sake of the gospel of grace for sinners.

Maintenance -- Emphasis one guarding the faith only, dominated by special interest theology

From T. Keller's The Missional Church

What makes a small group 'missional'?

A 'missional' small group is not necessarily one which is doing some kind of specific 'evangelism' program (though that is to be recommended) Rather, 1) if its members love and talk positively about the city/neighborhood, 2) if they speak in language that is not filled with pious tribal or technical terms and phrases, nor disdainful and embattled language, 3) if in their Bible study they apply the gospel to the core concerns and stories of the people of the culture, 4) if they are obviously interested in and engaged with the literature and art and thought of the surrounding culture and can discuss it both appreciatively and yet critically, 5) if they exhibit deep concern for the poor and generosity with their money and purity and respect with regard to opposite sex, and show humility toward people of other races and cultures, 6) they do not bash other Christians and churches--then seekers and non-believing people from the city A) will be invited and B) will come and will stay as they explore spiritual issues. If these marks are not there it will only be able to include believers or traditional, "Christianized" people.

1. Discourse in the vernacular.

- In 'Christendom' there is little difference between the language inside and outside of the church. Documents of the early U.S. Congress, for example, are riddled with allusions to and references from the Bible. Biblical technical terms are well-known inside and outside. In a missional church, however, terms must be explained.
- The missional church avoids 'tribal' language, stylized prayer language, unnecessary evangelical pious 'jargon', and archaic language that seeks to set a 'spiritual tone.'
- The missional church avoids 'we-them' language, disdainful jokes that mock people of different politics and beliefs, and dismissive, disrespectful comments about those who differ with us
- The missional church avoids sentimental, pompous, 'inspirational' talk . Instead we engage the culture with gentle, self-deprecating but joyful irony the gospel creates. Humility + joy =gospel irony and realism.
- The missional church avoids ever talking as if non-believing people are not present. If you speak and discourse as if your whole neighborhood is present (not just scattered Christians), eventually more and more of your neighborhood will find their way in or be invited.
- Unless all of the above is the outflow of a truly humble-bold gospel-changed heart, it is all just 'marketing' and 'spin.'

2. Create Christian community which is counter-cultural and counter-intuitive.

- In Christendom, 'fellowship' is basically just a set of nurturing relationships, support and accountability. That is necessary, of course.
- In a missional church, however, Christian community must go beyond that to embody a 'counter-culture,' showing the world how radically different a Christian society is with regard to sex, money, and power.
- In sex. We avoid both the secular society's idolization of sex and traditional society's fear of sex. We also exhibit love rather than hostility or fear toward those whose sexual life patterns are different.
- In money. We promote a radically generous commitment of time, money, relationships, and living space to social justice and the needs of the poor, the immigrant, the economically and physically weak.
- In power. We are committed to power-sharing and relationship-building between races and classes that are alienated outside of the Body of Christ.
- In general, a church must be more deeply and practically committed to deeds of compassion and social justice than traditional liberal churches and more deeply and practically committed to evangelism and conversion than traditional fundamentalist churches. This kind of church is profoundly 'counter-intuitive' to American observers. It breaks their ability to categorize (and dismiss) it as liberal or conservative. Only this kind of church has any chance in the non-Christian west.

3. Practice Christian unity as much as possible on the local level.

- In Christendom, when 'everyone was a Christian' it was necessary (perhaps) for a church to define itself over against other churches. That is, to get an identity you had to say, "we are not like that church over there, or those Christians over here."
 - Today, however, it is much more illuminating and helpful for a church to define itself over against 'the world'--the values of the non-Christian culture. It is very important that we not spend our time bashing and criticizing other kinds of churches. That simply plays in to the common 'defeater' that Christians are all intolerant.
- While we have to align ourselves in denominations that share many of our distinctives, at the local level we should cooperate and reach out to and support the other congregations and churches in our local area. This will raise many thorny issues, of course, but our bias should be in the direction of cooperation.

5. We are committed to a high view of Christian calling as reflected in the vocational spheres of family, church and public service. (See Module 5)

We believe that God has placed into our lives the boundaries of our habitation that reflect his own sovereign design to accomplish his work in the world. His work extends into the spheres of family, church and civil vocations. We desire to help people find a balance that is unique to their individual callings which reflects a high view of vocation and calling in these three spheres of service. While believing that the Christian Scriptures does not address all things pertaining to life in this world, we do affirm that we should take "every thought captive to the obedience of Christ" and that the Christian worldview is applicable and relevant to all spheres of life. Our ultimate commitment is to the restoration of "calling" that we might more and more glorify God and enjoy Him forever!

Implications:

- ✓ Christian Calling (Christian Discipleship (1Cor.1:9)
 - Imitation of Christ (Eph.5:1-2)
- ✓ Christian Callings (1Cor.7:17, 20): Three Divine Institutions (Non-voluntary)

✓ The “Art of Work”

Gen. 2:2 And on the seventh day God ended His work which He had done, and He rested on the seventh day from all His work which He had done. 3 Then God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it, because in it He rested from all His work which God had created and made... Gen. 2:9 And out of the ground the Lord God made every tree grow that is pleasant to the sight and good for food.

✓ Making Decisions and Calling

Work is not, primarily, a thing one does to live, but the thing one lives to do... it is the full expression of the worker's faculties, the thing in which he finds spiritual, mental and bodily satisfaction and the medium in which he offers himself to God. ... satisfaction is found in the fulfillment of his own nature and in contemplation of the perfection of his work... every man should do the work for which he is fitted by nature... we should not longer think of work as something that we hastened to get through in order to enjoy our leisure, we should look on our leisure as the period of changed rhythm that refreshed us for the delightful purpose of getting on with our work... the worker would demand that the stuff he helped to turnout should be good stuff... he would not longer be content to take the cash and let the credit go...

Thus, as made in the image of God... all men are made so far artists as to desire the integrity of the work.... This is another way of saying that the work must be measured by the standard of eternity, or that it must be done for God first and foremost

Dorothy Sayers

6. We are committed to a gospel transformation in our relationships with one another and the world.

We believe that the gospel is the power of God unto salvation wherein the life of God is given to all who believe in Jesus Christ. The life of God that is given to us includes both eternal life after this life, and also an increasingly transformed life in the present. We believe that gospel transformation changes our approach to relationships, motives for doing what we do, suffering and hardship, in short, our approach to everything! We desire to be a gospel centered church wherein the gospel exudes through everything we do as a church and individually.

Implications:

“The gospel is not just the “A-B-C” but the “A-to-Z” of the Christian life. The gospel is not just the way to enter the kingdom, but is the way to address every problem and is the way to grow at every step. If we believe we can find our own worth and meaning through performance, then we will become either proud and disdainful of others (if we reach our goals), or else discouraged and self-loathing (if we fail our goals). But the gospel creates an entirely new self-image.

First, it tells us that we are more wicked than we ever dared believe, but more loved and accepted in Christ than you ever dared to hope—at the same time. In fact, if the gospel is true, the more you see your sin, the more certain you are that you were saved by sheer grace and the more precious and electrifying that grace is to you. So the gospel gives us enormous power to admit our flaws.

Then secondly, the knowledge of our acceptance in Christ makes (for the first time) the law of God a beauty instead of a burden. We come to use it to delight the One who has enriched us so mightily—instead of using it to get his attention or win his favor. The first way makes the moral and sacrificial life a joy; the second way makes it a burden.

Therefore the gospel changes everything. It brings down racial barriers by melting away racial pride OR inferiority. It brings down psychological problems by melting away selfinflation OR self-hatred. It brings down personal facades, for we are free to admit who we are.”

Tim Keller

Rom. 1:16

¶ For I am not ashamed of the gospel; it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who has faith, to the Jew first and also to the Greek. 17 For in it the righteousness of God is revealed through faith for faith; as it is written, “The one who is righteous will live by faith.”
